IT does not remain a doubt that the people of England no longer look upon the flourishing state of their Colonies, with the same degree of pleasure and complacency as formerly. They regard our growth with an evil eye, and jealous of our encreasing numbers and wealth, think they discern their own destruction in our prosperity. This is the presage of a People remarkable throughout the world for a melancholy cast of mind, whose enjoyment of the present is ever disturbed by a distant view of the future. A true Englishman, who reads Postlethwait's Dictionary of Commerce, with the same spirit, with which it was wrote, will sadden at every page at accounts of a woollen manufactory at Abbeville, the great importation of French barbers and valets, or the declension of the Turky state, and will find the ruin of his country in the smuggling of a hogshead of claret. Enveloped the foggy atmosphere, and breathing nothing but the grossness of a sea-coal air, every Citizen of London is a rueful Politician predicting the most direful calamities, from every untoward occurrence to public affairs.

But, if this is not sufficient to disturb their repose, there is another ingredient, in the national character, of a still more malignant influence: For, being a commercial People, and accustomed to view all objects through the medium of self-interest, every public undertaking is the result of dry calculations, wherein all liberal ideas are thrown out of the question.——So far from embracing all mankind with expanded hearts, the human race, in every quarter of the globe, is sacrificed with ease to prospects of national advantage:—Hence the cruel despotism exercised over the East-Indians, and the late expedition to St. Vincent.—This too is their notion of Patriotism.

With this prevailing character it is in vain to hope that our liberties and properties will not be sacrificed to the ease and greatness of Britain, equally with those of other People, less closely allied.—The relation, which she stands in to us, as the parent state, is a bond of amity too feeble to suspend for a moment the operation of such selfish and powerful passions, as avarice and the lust of empire.—Let Ireland, a sister kingdom, witness the weight of her oppressive hand.

Nor let us conceive, that the free form of his own constitution will inspire an Englishman with a tenderer regard for the rights of others.—He values them not, provided their destruction contributes to his own benefit.—A trader of London not at all qualified, by nature or education, to controul the fortunes of men—protected in his own person and property by a thousand legal forms, shall issue orders, from his compting-house, to tear 1000 unhappy Africans from their country and families, and every thing held dear by them, and lead them into a dismal captivity.

I am drawn into these reflections, and justified in them, by a late publication, in England, of political Essays, on which the greatest encomiums have been bestowed.—It seems to be the principal purpose of the Author to encrease the jealousy against the Northern Colonies, by representing them as dangerous Rivals in Commerce, and very benevolently proposes to despoil them of their Manufactures and Trade, that they may be obliged to confine themselves solely to tilling the earth. The means to effect the former, he says, should be, "to sell the manufactures of Britain so cheap "throughout the colonies as to ruin all their own "manufactures and this to be done by means of "Factors to be established by Government, in the "chief towns of America, with goods purchased "by Government, and to be sold at such prices, "as would immediately ruin all the colony ma-"nufactures, and consequently multitudes of o-"ther Factors, who have established houses for "the sale of British goods, which they must have "purchased there, at the common market-Price."

I leave this to be commented upon by the Americans, observing only, that it seems not an extravagant conjecture to suppose the present project of the India Company, in concert with the Ministry, of sending Tea to the Colonies, may have been suggested by this publication, and embraced by them, not only as the best expedient to enforce a revenue act, but as an experiment to be made of Government Factors, for the righteous purpose of ruining our private traders.

But I trust to my Countrymen, that to open violence they will oppose courage, and to artifice wisdom: and I hope the same virtues, which have been hitherto tried with effect, will be always on the watch to defeat such baneful and pernicious designs; and that this accursed Tea will be rejected with the same firmness, as in the time of the general non-importation agreement, when a love of the publick good so nobly triumphed over avarice, and every base and selfish passion.

CASCA.

To the RIGHT REVEREND JONATHAN, LORD BISHOP of ST. ASAPH.

I BEG leave, in the name of my country, to call upon your Lordship to mingle your "indignation" with ours, against the "artifices" of the Ministry, for their late attempt to "seperate the interest of the colonies from that of Great-Britain," through the medium of the East India Company, and at the same time to thank your Lordship, in this public manner, for your excellent Sermon, preached before the Society for propagating the gospel in foreign parts.

It was reserved for you to pluck a quill from some Angel's wing, to mark the common interests and duties of Britain and her colonies. It was reserved for you to rescue the Bench and the Lawn Sleeve from the reproach under which they have fallen, during our late struggles for liberty. You have removed the just and unjust prejudices entertained against prelacy by people of every denomination in America. You have made us forget the Bishop, in the Man, and the Baron of the realm, in the British American Patriot.

You are too happy in the possession of that virtue, and in the contemplation of those abilities, which gave birth to your Sermon, to receive the least addition to your happiness from the approbation or gratitude of the Americans. But allow us, my Lord, for our own sakes to assure you that we pore over it as the most finished piece of composition in our language.—We view it as a monument of the strength and extent of human genius in discovering and enforcing the most complex truths;—we prize it as a common MAGNA CHARTA of Britain, and her empire in America.

Accept, my Lord, of the incense of gratitude from millions of American breasts. It rises from the altar of Justice, perfumed with the love of liberty. Laurels—not such as are raised in the hot beds of Court favor, but the spontaneous, unfading laurels of America, shall cluster thick around your brow, and when you "sleep in dull cold marble," your name shall live in this western world (to borrow an Indian phrase) while the sun shines and the rivers flow.—— HAMPDEN.

Philadelphia, October 15. 1773.

THIS DAY PUBLISHED,

And to be sold by PHILIP FREEMAN, at the Blue-Glove in Union-Street, facing the Cornfields, near the Dock, and by PHILIP FREEMAN, junior, near Liberty-Tree, Boston, [Price ONE SHILLING.]

TWO SERMONS,

The First from Psalm 102. 19, 20. delivered the Lord's Day before the Execution of Levi Ames,

The Second from Prov. 17. 25 preached the Lord's Day after his Execution, as a solemn Caution to others, especially the Youth.

To which is added at the Desire of many, an Account of his Exercise of Mind; together with the Conversation the Author had with him, as he walked with him from the Prison to the Gallows: by which, compared with his latter Conduct, he may be thot in judgment of Charity, to have died a penitent Thief.

Meſſrs. EDES & GILL,

THERE are various opinions concerning the real or principal deſign of the Governor of this province, in giving diſcretionary orders to Col. Hancock to be in readineſs to aid the civil magiſtrate when and where he ſhould think proper. If the governor thought there was reaſon to apprehend a tumult among the people, he could not be at a loſs for the grounds of ſuch an apprehenſion. He certainly knows that Meſſrs. Clarkes, Mr. Faneuil, and his own two children, are the appointed inſtruments to prevent the good effects of the non-importation agreement, which his excellency had endeavoured to nip in the bud, and to put into execution the deteſted revenue-act. The American merchants had ſo generally ſtopped the importation of Engliſh Tea, in conſequence of that agreement as greatly to alarm the Eaſt India Company, and put them upon ſoliciting a repeal of the duty. The miniſtry, reſolved againſt the repeal, have procured an act of parliament whereby that company is allowed to ſend their tea to America. Thus the company is eaſed, their teas are to be imported and ſold, the duty conſequently paid, and the ſalutary reſolution of the merchants fruſtrated. Mr. Clarke, and others before-mentioned, are the choſen men to receive and ſell the tea, and pay the tribute. The people therefore look upon them to be as truly the men pitched upon to execute the revenue-acts as Mr. Oliver and others were, to execute a former revenue-act, under the title of the ſtamp-act, and the tea is conſidered as deteſtable as were the ſtampt-papers. Hence an equal neceſſity of preventing the ſcattering the dutied tea through the province, as there was of preventing that of the ſtamped papers. In ſhort, the miniſtry appear to be playing the old game again, tho' with more art and ſubtlety, and the people ſee through it, and ſeem determined, as before, to put them to their trumps. To ſpeak plainly, the people think this tea is as much the offspring of the miniſtry, as the ſtamped papers were; and that as much is expected from the care and aſſiduity of Meſſrs. Clarkes and others, under the patronage and direction of Mr. Hutchinſon, in nurſing this ſecond child and uſhuring it into life, as was expected before from Mr. Oliver and others, under the like patronage and direction of Mr. Bernard, in cheriſhing the firſt-born, and fitting that for eminent ſervice. Perſons of all ranks are as much exaſperated at this miniſterial manœuvre, as ever they were againſt the ſtamp-act; they deteſt the tea-commiſſioners as thoro'ly as they did the ſtamp-officers. They appear to be as much offended with Mr. Hutchinſon's preſent conduct, as they were with the conduct of Bernard in the year 1765. They are particularly aſtoniſhed at his calling for the Military, to be in readineſs IN ARMS, whenever the Colonel ſhould think proper! This is a part of conduct which Mr. Hutchinſon's friends may boaſt of; for we have not heard that either of the Governors of Pennſylvania or New York have even contemplated ſuch an order, though cargoes of the ſame tea are deſtined for thoſe places, and the people there are as much exaſperated at it, as the people are here: Such an order has not been iſſued, that we have heard of, even by Gov. Tryon, who was bred a Soldier, from whom therefore it might firſt have been expected. For what purpoſe were they to be in readineſs in arms, but to do military execution, and ſhed blood? And perhaps they would afterwards have been thanked for their "ſpirited behaviour," in imitation of the memorable example of Lord B—n, when a few years ago a number of his Majeſty's innocent ſubjects, by the gallantry of the king's troops, were laid dead in St. George's Fields. It is well remembered that orders were then given out to ſoldiers, previous to any tumult's happening, to be in readineſs in arms; and there can be no doubt, but a reforming juſtice may be found here, a man of ſpirit, as in that caſe, to give a colouring to the "action." But did his Excellency recollect the part which Mr. Hancock has always taken, ſo much to his honor, in oppoſition to the deſtructive meaſures of a moſt abandoned adminiſtration? Did his Excellency think that Mr. Hancock would ſo far degrade his name in the liſt of Patriots, as to aid, in any capacity, in enforcing a deteſtable revenue act? For after all the talk of ſecuring property, that is the whole deſign. Or, let me further aſk, Whether his Excellency made it clear to the officers of the Cadet company, who afterwards waited on him, that they were "obliged or even authorized" by any law of this province, which is the only rule for ſoldiers or citizens within this juriſdiction, in carrying ſuch an order into execution? If no law of the province will juſtify the order, if it was abhorrent to the principles of the conſtitution, what right had Mr. Clarke, or any of his friends to expect, when a number of people were provoked to break his windows, (as it is commonly ſaid can be proved by plentiful evidence) by the diſcharge of a piſtol from one of them before the leaſt inſult had been offered them.——I ſay, what right had they to expect that Col. Hancock would place himſelf at the head of a military company on ſuch an occaſion, without a legal call? It is reported that great pains were taken to find Mr. Hancock, and that he was ſought for in many places, tho not his own houſe, where he was to be found, to give him notice of the neceſſity of his appearance. Probably a repreſentation is or will ſoon be made of this great neglect of duty, as an evidence that Mr. Hancock is not to be depended upon as a friend of government (which in their ſenſe of the words has always been true) and he may be called upon to reſign a commiſſion, after having ſuſtain'd it to the great mortification of his E—y, with unrival'd honor to himſelf as an officer, and to the univerſal ſatisfaction of the friends of Liberty and his Country. AN OLD CADET.

The following Articles are taken from the Papers bro't by Capt. Scott who arrived here on Wedneſday laſt from London.

LONDON.

Aug. 28. Capt. Kembell, who for many years hath been employed as Maſter of a Ship to New-York, is appointed Naval Officer for the Province of New-York! a place worth at leaſt 500l. a year, ſterling, and procured for him by his brother-in-law Lord Gage. On which occaſion a Merchant obſerves, it is rather remarkable, that of late years the American ſhip-maſters have by the Miniſtry, been found more able and fit for public employments than any other claſs of people in America.

Capt. Jo. Harriſon (in the merchants ſervice) was by Lord Rockingham thought fit to be his Lordſhip's private Secretary! And was afterwards made Collector of Boſton, a place the moſt lucrative (the Governor's excepted) of any in that province; and which, he now holds as a ſinecure! The Miniſtry, as 'tis ſaid, having occaſion for his advice and aſſiſtance at home.

Capt. Benjamin Hallowell (many years in a merchant ſhip) was by the miniſtry thought ſo able and clever, that he was at once made a Commiſſioner, and his brother Comptroller, of the Cuſtoms at Boſton.

Capt. Nevin was, from the ſame ſervice, made Collector of the Cuſtoms, and a Counſellor, at New-Hampſhire! And ſeveral other Captains have been thus promoted, ſo that the American ſhip-maſters, of late, look up very high in the road of preferment.

A Merchant, trading to America, hath offered a bet of ten guineas to five, that not a pound of the teas, now ſending out by the India Company to Boſton, New-York, and Pennſylvania, will ever reach thoſe markets, that ſome ACCIDENT will HAPPEN TO IT—either the ſhip's bottom will ſpring a leak in the harbour, or the tea will by ſome ACCIDENT or other take fire after it is landed, and be loſt that way.

It is ſaid, that the preſent chief ſervants of Government in Boſton are to be recalled, as nothing elſe, it is thought will reſtore the peace of the Province.

Sept. 24. It cannot be denied, but that the colonies of Great Britain are already extended beyond a due proportion to its people at home; the branches of the tree are now rather too large for its body; and every ſenſible perſon muſt foreſee that our fellow ſubjects in America will, in leſs than fifty years, form a ſtate much more numerous and powerful than their mother country. For at this time were they inclined to throw off their dependency, it would be very difficult for this kingdom to keep them in ſubjection; what then will they be in 50 years time, when their numbers will be more than trebled by natural propagation only, without the addition of thouſands, who fly every year to that happy country, where they can live with freedom, & get their bread with eaſe.

BOSTON, November 22.

On Thurſday laſt there was a meeting of the Freeholders and other Inhabitants of this Town, when a Committee was appointed to acquaint Meſſ'rs. Clarkes Faneuil and Hutchinſons, that inaſmuch as they had declined giving a full Anſwer to the requeſt of the Town at a former Meeting, till they ſhould have further Intelligence from England relative to the Eaſt India Company's Tea, ſuppoſed to be conſigned to them; and as a Veſſel had ſince arriv'd from London, it was the deſire of the Town that they would now give a final Anſwer to their Requeſt, viz. Whether they would reſign their Appointment? Upon which they ſent into the Town the following Letter, viz.

Boſton, November 18, 1773.

SIR,

IN Anſwer to the Meſſage we have this Day receiv'd from the Town we beg leave to ſay, that we have not yet receiv'd any Orders from the Eaſt-India Company reſpecting the expected Teas, but we are now further acquainted, that our Friends in England have entered into penal Engagements in our behalf, merely of a commercial nature; which puts it out of our power to comply with the requeſt of the Town.

We are Sir

Your moſt humble Ser'ts.

RICHARD CLARKE and SONS.
BENJAMIN FANEUIL, jun. for Self, and JOSH^A WINSLOW, Eſq;
ELISHA HUTCHINSON, for my Brother and Self.

Hon. JOHN HANCOCK, Eſq; Moderator of a Town-Meeting aſſembled at Faneuil Hall.

The Anſwer was Voted NOT ſatisfactory; and the Meeting was IMMEDIATELY diſſolved.

Laſt Friday his Majeſty's Council of this Province met by Summons from Governor Hutchinſon, to conſider a Petition of the Tea-Commiſſioners in this Town, praying "to reſign themſelves and the Property committed to their Care, to his Excellency and their Honors, as Guardians and Protectors of the People," and "that Meaſures may be directed to, for the landing and ſecuring the Teas, untill the Petitioners can be at Liberty openly and ſafely to diſpoſe of the ſame, or untill they can receive Directions from their Conſtituents."

The Laws of this Province are made for the Protection of the People and of every Individual. There is no doubt but the People will at all times be ready to aſſiſt the Magiſtrate in the due Execution of thoſe Laws for the Protection of any Individuals, being in the Peace of God and the King. No Man can be ſaid to be in the Peace of God and the King, while he is attempting to overthrow the Civil Conſtitution, or Compact between the King and the Subject. His Majeſty's Council are not a the Senſe of the Petitioners, if they intend any Thing to their Purpoſe, the conſtituted Protection of the People. They are one Branch of the General Aſſembly; and by the Charter or Conſtitution they, with the Governor, may hold and keep a Council, for the ordering and directing the Affairs of the Province.

No one it is preſumed deſires them to reſign their appointment; on the contrary, as they are too wiſe a Body to be drawn aſide from their Appointment by the Artifices of deſigning men, it is juſtly to be expected that they will in this and all other Inſtances keep preciſely to it. The ſafety of the government and of the people depend much upon it. Their department by no means admits of their condeſcending to become the Truſtees and Storekeepers of certain Factors for the Eaſt-India Company. As well might they become the Truſtees of all the Individuals, and ex officio be the Storekeepers of every Store in the province; and this it is to be feared would induce ſuch a multiplicity of private Buſineſs as to leave them no Time to do the Duties of their Department, viz. the ordering and directing the Affairs of the Province.

A Letter from London of a late Date adviſes a Gentleman here not to purchaſe any of the Teas now coming, as immenſe quantities lyes rotting in the Company's Warhouſes, which they will croud in by Ship loads at any Price in Caſe this is taken off.

Another Letter ſays twelve Millions weight of Tea has lain for near ſeven Years in the India Company's Warehouſes rotting, which on our receiving what is now coming will be alſo ſent.

Americans! Defeat this laſt Effort of a moſt pernicious, expiring Faction, and you may ſit down under your own Vines and Fig-Trees, & none ſhall hereafter DARE TO MAKE YOU AFRAID.

One of the Sons of Richard Clarke, a Tea Factor, having ſome Time ſince been in Bargain with Mr. Benjamin Jepſon for a Quantity of Oil, came on Friday laſt to Mr. Jepſon and deſired him to take a Man with him to turn out the Oil that he might ſee it: But Mr. Jepſon like a true Friend of his Country told Mr. Clarke with Indignation that he could not have any Thing further to ſay to him, as he had given the Town ſo much Trouble and Danger, he would not let him have it for twice what he offered. A notable Example this of Uniformity in public and private Conduct. Theſe Perſons having been unanimouſly voted public Enemies to Caſe they perſiſt in their Reſolution to diſpoſe of the Eaſt-India Company's Teas.

At New-York they have twice exhibited and burnt in Effigy one Kelly, a tea commiſſioner for that place, who is daily expected there from England.
